About Austin

Austin is located towards the south-center of the state, and sits along the Balcones Fault which demarcates the Coastal region from the Hill Country that's the central and western parts of the state. Beneath us - limestone and karst that contain the Edwards Aquifer. As a result, Austinites are blessed with great weather, dramatic hills, fast flats, sparkling lakes, calm rivers, and aged caves. It's no surprise that many Austinites spend a lot of time outdoors.

The theme for programming is
Robert E. Howard Centennial

WFC 2006 will take place at the Renaissance Hotel, which is located in a part of Austin called The Arboretum. The Arboretum is located about 7 miles from Downtown Austin, in a fully-developed shopping and retail area. Sitting on Hwy 183 between Capital of Texas Highway and Great Hills Trail, the Arboretum nestles into the hills of NW Austin. A green space, there's plenty of walking areas and quiet places to sit and read. But as the area is a retail area as well, there's plenty of activities to keep visitors occupied.
